

I used Canva to explore different opportunities and found a resume template that matched the type of job I am interested in. I customized the template by adding my skills, career goals, and other important information for my job application. I also used AI as a helpful tool to improve my grammar, organize my ideas, and make my resume clearer. However, I made sure that the information and ideas included in my resume were based on my own experiences and decisions. I also used Google and other reliable sources to verify important information instead of relying completely on AI. For me, AI is mainly a tool that supports my work through editing, research, and improving my ideas. I also make sure to protect my privacy by avoiding sharing unnecessary personal information or sensitive files when using online tools. Most importantly, I take responsibility for the information I include and for the final output of my work.
